2013

Big Data, Small School: Growing Digital Curation Services at a Liberal Arts University

Michael Hughes
Trinity University, mhughes@trinity.edu

Megan Toups
Trinity University, mtoups@trinity.edu

Follow this and additional works at: http://digitalcommons.trinity.edu/lib_faculty
Part of the Library and Information Science Commons

Repository Citation
http://digitalcommons.trinity.edu/lib_faculty/27

This Presentation is brought to you for free and open access by the Coates Library at Digital Commons @ Trinity. It has been accepted for inclusion in Library Faculty Research by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Trinity. For more information, please contact jcostanz@trinity.edu.
BIG DATA, SMALL SCHOOL
GROWING DIGITAL CURATION SERVICES AT A LIBERAL ARTS UNIVERSITY
Michael Hughes and Megan Toups, Trinity University

SOWING SEEDS
Adapting Digital Curation for Trinity University
“Data Curation is the active and ongoing management of data through its lifecycle of interest and usefulness to scholarship, science, and education.”

PREPARATION
Library Working Group
• Science Librarians
• University Archivist
• Head of Discovery Services
Departmental Collaboration
• Coordinator of Research Programs
Faculty
• Cross-disciplinary Focus Groups

DATA SUPPORT SERVICES
Data Management Plan (DMP) Writing and Consultation
Institutional Repository for ‘Homeless’ Data
Data Management Education
Additional Projects on a Case-by-Case Basis

GREEN SHOOTS
Trained Liaison Librarians to Engage Faculty on Data-related Issues
Edited DMP for Chemistry Faculty
Written into Biology Faculty Grant to Create Hormone Database
Investigated and Recommended Digital Storage Options for Faculty
Disseminated Services to Campus

FUTURE GROWTH
• Data Management Training for Student Researchers
• Confocal Microscopy Data to be Stored in Digital Commons @ Trinity (bepress)
• Mellon-funded Digital Humanities Projects

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS & REFERENCES
University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. (2012). “Specialization in Data Curation.” http://www.library.illinois.edu/academics/programs/graduateschool/data_curation